

SELF-ASSESSMENT DOSSIER

10 signs you've been hacked

You don't need to be a business to be a target: personal accounts, phones and profiles get hacked every day. Go through this list honestly.

- ☐ 01 Passwords that no longer work
Your usual password no longer works on an account you use daily.
- ☐ 02 Unknown login alerts
You're getting login alerts from devices or locations you don't recognize.
- ☐ 03 Messages you didn't send
Friends or contacts receive strange messages or links from your account.
- ☐ 04 Battery and data spikes
Your phone overheats, drains fast, or uses far more data than usual.
- ☐ 05 Apps you didn't install
Apps appear on your phone that you don't remember downloading.
- ☐ 06 2FA codes you didn't request
You receive two-factor verification codes you never asked for.
- ☐ 07 Changes you didn't make
Your photo, recovery email or phone number changed on their own.
- ☐ 08 Someone knows too much
Someone knows conversations or details that only existed on your phone or accounts.
- ☐ 09 Ghost posts or messages
There are posts, likes or sent messages you don't remember making.
- ☐ 10 You've lost control
You can't regain access to an account through the platform's normal process.

Checked 3 or more? The sooner you act, the easier it is to shut down access.
